BRAIN
A JOURNAL OF NEUROLOGY
Volume 139 Part 7 July 2016

Editorial
1865 D M Kuhner

Scientific Commentaries
1866 Your nose knows how to target brain inflammation. A. C. Winger and S. S. Zamoï ted
1869 A vulnerability to chronic pain and its interrelationship with resistance to analgesia. J. Tracey 1872 Is the blood-brain barrier differentially affected by different variants of migraine? J. P. Dreier 1874 Bayesian inference, dysconnectivity and neuromodulation in schizophrenia. K. E. Stephenson, A. O. Diaconescu and S. Iglesias

Review Article

Original Articles
1881 Microvacular alterations and the role of complement in dermatomyositis. R. Lahoria, D. Selcen and A. G. Engel 1939 Bcl-2-dependent Tr1 cells attenuate astrogliotic activation and ameliorate chronic central nervous system inflammation. L. Maps, A. P. D. Cunha, A. Modi, et al.
1987 The migraine generator revisited: continuous scanning of the migraine cycle over 30 days and stress sensitization attacks. J. H. Schulte and A. May 1994 Isal lack of binding to brain parenchyma suggests integrity of the blood-brain barrier for “C. M. Blaabjerg, M. Masellis, S. Collinson, et al.
2039 Doxapram D2 receptor gene variants and response to resuscitation in early Parkinson’s disease: a pharmacogenetic study. M. Maesle, S. Colvinson, N. Freeman, et al.
2043 Cyclooxygenase inhibition targets neurons to prevent early behavioral decline in Alzheimer’s disease model mice. N. S. Woolfing, D. Caleo, Q. Wang, et al.
2072 Dopamine D2 receptor gene variants and response to resuscitation in early Parkinson’s disease: a pharmacogenetic study. M. Maesle, S. Colvinson, N. Freeman, et al.

Letters to the Editor
2101 When breath becomes air. H. Marsh

From the Archives

Book Review
2101 When breath becomes air. H. Marsh

Vol. 139 Part 7 July 2016
www.brain.oxfordjournals.org